Wild Hearts On-the-Sea

a special welcome note to our guests

...a “gem” on-the-Sea...

A gem is a valuable and precious stone or mineral that has been cut, polished for use, and is admired and valued for its beauty and excellence.

As our special guests at Wild Hearts on-the-Sea, we invite you to experience—

Wild Hearts as a refuge for you, an escape from the day-to-day, a place to rejuvenate and be free, to experience the miracle of being alive, a place that is yours to enjoy, a place of..

...peace, calm, renewal of heart and soul, a rejuvenation, a well spring of creativity, love, freedom, clarity, and peace of mind, all that being at the source of what life and aliveness provides...

...a feeling of “at home” with the place, with yourself, your family, friends, your heart, your wellbeing, your natural self-expression, your creativity and purpose.

Wild Hearts profoundly connects you to the sea, the grassy dunes, the wonder of nature, the earth, the stars, the moon and its tides, the calming sounds of surf, the birds who live at the sea, the sunrise over the water, the wildness of the ocean’s whims, the wildness in you, all that springs from being closely connected to the essence of nature.

Wild Hearts is a safe space to open your heart, heal your heart, connect to those you care about, and a place to wonder, and think, and muse about your life, the future, with a heart inspired that invites a well-spring of creativity, deep connection to Self and being one with nature, at peace, and all that opening up your heart provides.

Wild Hearts is a place to empty your mind, clear the past, and create a blank slate for what your heart and mind are open to discovering, creating, exploring, and find moving and inspiring.

Wild Heats is memorable for its calm, the ever-repeating sound of surf, the brilliant sunrise across the sea, the pristine sense of “home,” the refreshing colorful and artistic décor, and it’s glass windows and porches looking out onto the dunes, the ocean, the blue sky by day and the starry moonscape by night.

And also, Wild Hearts is a place for just plain having fun, eating fresh fish from the sea, kayaking in the lake, swimming in the nearby pool, letting the surf wash over you at the beach front, spending quality time with friends and family, eating at fine restaurants, and oh, those late nights or early morning walks along the ocean, all for you to experience, you filled with peace and joy.
